At 24 cents and ear fresh corn for Memorial Day at the lake was a great bargain and so tasty. I soaked the ears on the drive up and steamed them right in their husks. They were juicy and delicious. We also had threw in some potatoes wrapped in foil under all that corn. Along side burgers and hot dogs it was quite a feast. I think it's fun to play with the fire and see what I can cook. Just imagine how it must have been when this was the only way to cook!
